CHESTERFIELD

Chesterfield's main claim to fame is that they are one of the oldest clubs in the country, having been formed in 1866.

They were elected to the Football League in 1899 and retained their membership until 1909, when they reverted to competing in the Midland League. After the First World War, the club were one of the prime movers in the formation of Division Three North and have remained members of the League since then.

On two occasions they have been promoted to the Second Division, in 1931 and 1936, and from the later date they retained membership until relegation in 1951. They dropped into Division Four in 1961–62 and remained there for nine years.

Last season, their fourth in succession in this Division, they got into the fringe of the promotion chase but had in the end to be content with sharing fourth place with Wrexham, six points behind Oldham and five behind Bristol Rovers and York City.

Any hopes that they would take up the challenge again this season have been dashed by a disappointing start, their away record of needing to be improved if they are to fight clear of the relegation zone.

P.10 W.2 D.0 L.8 F.13 A.21 (up to and incl. Dec. 7th)

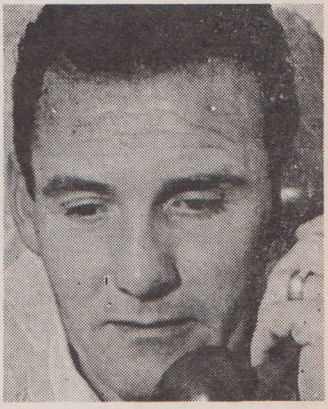
The two clubs first met in 1901–02 but since the last war have only clashed on three occasions. The last was in the Third Division in 1970–71, when we drew at Chesterfield 0–0 and won by 1–0 at Deepdale, the goal coming from Gerry Ingram. The other meetings were in 1949–50 (0–0 at Deepdale and 0–2 at Chesterfield) and 1950–51 (4–1 at Deepdale and 0–2 at Chesterfield).

The Derbyshire club from the town of the twisted spire have always had a high reputation for the quality of the goalkeepers they have produced. Sam Hardy, of England fame, was the first in the early part of the century and his record was not surpassed until Gordon Banks, who also started at Chesterfield, came along. In between, Jim Brown, Alan Stevenson, John Osbourne and Ray Middleton all made their mark in the higher divisions of the League.

At the moment they have yet another-up-and-coming starlet in Steve Hardwick, an England youth international.

Chesterfield moved to their present ground at Saltergate in 1882 and it is regarded as one of the best in the division.

MANAGER



It used to be said of Joe Shaw when he was with Sheffield United that he was the best uncapped centre half in the country and now he is putting his vast experience in the game to use as manager at Chesterfield.

He made 639 League appearances for United after making his debut as an inside forward at the age of 16 against Huddersfield in the war-time League in 1945. Few centre forwards ever got the better of Joe, but he used to admit that he found Alex Young, of Everton, more than a handful.

Joe's last game was in 1966 and there followed a year in the managerial chair at York and scouting posts at Sheffield United and Fulham before he was appointed to his present job.

KEEP OFF

Please do not damage the advertisements facing the pitch or obscure them, and KEEP OFF THE GRASS. The playing area must be kept clear of spectators. Needless damage is done when supporters go on to it. THIS MUST CEASE, otherwise well-behaved youngsters as well as offenders may be penalised. You can cheer from the terraces.

RECORD REQUESTS

Supporters wishing to have a record played in the pre-match or half-time entertainment spots over the public address system should send their requests to the Secretary, Deepdale, Preston, marking their envelope in the bottom left hand corner "D.J."

CHARLT

We welcome Chesterfield today knowing that they will be keen to avoid defeat and improve their chances of climbing away from the danger zone at the bottom of the table. The match, however, is just as important to North End and we shall not be under-estimating our opponents and especially their striker Ernie Moss, who is finding the net as regularly as Mel Holden.

From the club, I would like to wish all our fans a Happy New Year, which could get off to a good start by a victory in the cuptie with Carlisle United next week.

We can hardly expect to win the Cup, though anything can happen in the competition, which has a reputation for being a great leveller, but we aim to stay in as long as possible, in the hope of getting more games against top clubs.

ON CHAT

Our priority is, however, the League, with promotion the ultimate aim. I am not too disappointed that we are not amongst the leaders at this stage. We are not too far behind and are free from the pressure that is on those who set the pace. The second half of the season is the testing time when those teams which have been over-trained fall off and the consistent ones come into their own.

We are handily placed and I am confident we will finish strongly and be there at the end of the season provided we do not let the others get too far ahead in the next few weeks.

The players have got back their form in the last few matches after those set-backs in November but as these notes had to be written before Christmas because of printing arrangements we shall be keeping our fingers crossed against any disasters in the meantime.

OUR DIVISION

While other Third Division clubs were taking time off to play second round F.A. cupties, Port Vale got on with League business and sneaked up to third place by virtue of a 4–0 win over Huddersfield. The Yorkshire club thus find themselves in an even more perilous position at the foot of the table.

Vale now emerge as one of the dark horses in the promotion race, sounding a warning to Blackburn Rovers and Swindon Town that they cannot afford any slip-ups. After taking an average of a point a game from the first fifteen matches, the Staffordshire club have climbed steadily and with only four points difference between the first nine places in the League the race will be very close indeed.

Blackburn Rovers' strength has been built up on their defence, which has given away fewer goals than any other side in the Division and it would appear that if they could improve their own scoring rate they would be hard to catch. As it is, only eight teams in this division have scored fewer goals.

The season's programme is now approaching the half-way stage and it is interesting to review the changes in the fortunes of the various clubs, which can be seen by the accompanying chart.

Manchester United's drawing power has been giving a boost to Second Division gates and in a more modest way North End can claim to be doing the same in the Third Division.

Cases in point are Aldershot, who had less than 4,000 at their first Saturday match of the season but a fortnight later the attendance shot up to 6,337 for North End's visit, and Brighton, where, from an 8,900 gate on October 5th the figure rose to 16,413 to welcome North End on October 19th.

Other clubs have benefited and North End must have made their contribution to the increase from 5,809 to 6,904 in the overall average gates for the Division in October.

Alex. Bruce has not had a very successful time since he moved to Newcastle and his many Preston admirers would, therefore, be delighted when he recently got into the United first team, especially as he was seen on T.V. in two games.

The screen, however, only emphasised how a player's fortunes can fluctuate. In the first game Bruce earned praise for a fine goal which put his side on the way to their Texaco Cup Final victory but in the very next game we saw him substituted and made the scapegoat for an indifferent display by Newcastle.
